To Whom It May Concern:

Alliant Communications was selected by our company over eight other vendors. Their professionalism and knowledge of the best phone system for our needs impressed us from the start.

We are a business consisting of 10 sites located from Liberal, Kansas to Toppenish, Washington with over 1,000 employees. Each location had a very different phone system, as well as very different needs. Alliant was instrumental in helping us to determine the best system for our business. They recommended the ShoreTel VOIP system. With the ShoreTel system we now have the ability to phone different locations by using a 4 digit extension. We have eliminated long distance charges and ultimately saved us a large amount of time and money.

The project took several months and they were available every step of the way. They worked very closely with our staff to ensure we had all the correct equipment and configured all the phones in their lab. They assisted our IT department onsite with the first two installs until we felt comfortable with the process. There was always someone available to us as we progressed through each city and state to complete our installation process. Their thorough knowledge of the installation process and the ShoreTel phone system was invaluable.

Prior to each installation they were more than accommodating to our training needs. They were able to split up the classes so that each site was trained extensively just prior to their respective installation date.

I would highly recommend Alliant Communications for any telecommunication project. Their wealth of knowledge and professionalism is unmatched.

Sincerely,
